In the Government Effectiveness and Efficiency Report, the Legislative Budget Board (LBB) recommended that the legislature either:

- Implement one of three options: 1) fully fund ERS and TRS at current benefit levels; (2) Maintain the defined benefit plans but make benefit changes so that current funding levels are sufficient to fully fund the plans; or (3) Create new hybrid plan structures; or

- Include a rider that requires ERS and TRS to study their pension plans for benefit design and structure options.
Out of funds appropriated elsewhere in this Act, the Employees Retirement System and the Teacher Retirement System shall each individually report on the actuarial and fiscal impacts from potential changes to the state, university and school district pension plans as of August 31, 2011, including but not limited to: retirement eligibility; final average salary; benefit multiplier; and the creation of a hybrid plan that includes defined benefit and defined contribution features such as a two-part plan or a cash balance plan. The report shall be submitted to the Legislative Budget Board and the Governor no later than September 1, 2012.

GAA Article IX Section 18.03
Current Plan

- The Texas Constitution provides for the establishment of the Teacher Retirement System to provide benefits for public education employees.

- System and benefits must meet the following conditions:
  - Financing of the benefits must be based on sound actuarial principles.
  - The system must have a board of trustees to administer the system and to invest the funds of the system.
  - The amount contributed by members may not be less than 6% of current compensation.
  - The amount contributed by the state may not be less than 6% nor more than 10% of the aggregate compensation paid to system members.
The state sets retirement eligibility and the formula for determining retirement benefits.

Eligibility for study discussion is Rule of 80 + minimum age 60.
- Five percent reduction per year for each year of retirement before age 60.

Current formula is 5 year final average salary x years of service credit x 2.3 percent.
- 5 year final average salary was adopted in 2005.
- 2.3% multiplier was adopted in 2001.
Study Scope

- The study charge does not ask for TRS to make a recommendation.

- Study the actuarial and fiscal impacts of:
  - Changing the benefit design of the current plan, including changes to retirement eligibility, final average salary, and multiplier; and
  - Creating a new plan structure such as a two-part or cash balance plan.

- Also assess impact to providing adequate replacement income; balancing risk; and offering value to members, the state, and other stakeholders.
Other Study Considerations

- Principles to consider in addition to actuarial and fiscal analysis:
  - Costs are appropriately shared by the sponsor and member.
  - Risks are appropriately shared between the sponsor and member.
  - Provide an adequate level of benefits so members may retire at an appropriate age.
    - Financial planners often recommend a replacement ratio of 70% to 90% of preretirement income.
    - TRS’ current replacement ratio after a 30-year career is 69% of the final average salary when retiring at age 60.
    - Almost 80% of TRS members are not in Social Security.

Cash Balance Plans

- Members have a “virtual” account to which both the employer and the member contribute a set percentage of wages (pay credits).

- Pay credits then earn interest at an amount specified in the plan (interest credits).

- Under the Pension Protection Act, cash balance plans must have a minimum interest credit of zero or higher and the maximum cannot be more than a market rate of return (either the rate or method of determining rate can be established by state law).

- Virtual account can be converted to an annuity at retirement or other options may be made available.

Questions and Answers
BEST PRACTICE

Background. The retirement benefit is a form of compensation designed to assist the employer in the recruitment and retention of public employees and other workforce management goals. It is also provided to assist employees in preparing for retirement and compensate individuals for their years in public service.

Broadly speaking, there are two types of retirement plans, defined benefit and defined contribution. Defined benefit plans, with very few exceptions, provide a retirement benefit calculated using a formula based upon a plan participant’s years of service and compensation. Generally, both employers and participants contribute to these public sector defined benefit plans. All assets accumulated to fund the retirement benefits are invested by the retirement board or a central agency responsible for investing government funds. All investment-related risk is generally borne by the employer. These plans are predominant in the public sector, covering over 90 percent of full-time public sector employees.¹

Principal features of defined benefit plans generally include:

1. Investment risk born by the plan sponsor;
2. Life expectancy risk born by the plan sponsor;
3. Survivor and disability coverage generally provided;
4. Guaranteed lifetime annuity to members at retirement unless they choose an alternate payment method;
5. Investments directed by the plan;
6. Generally lower investment costs associated with a defined benefit plan as compared to other plan designs;
7. More useful tool for employers to attract and retain employees for full careers and to manage workforce levels; and
8. Guaranteed or ad-hoc cost-of-living adjustments provided to annuitants.

A defined contribution plan provides for benefits based solely on the assets available in an employee’s individual account, to which both employees and employers may contribute. All employees have their own accounts set up within the plan to which contributions and investment gains and losses are recorded. Typically, under a defined contribution plan, employees direct the investment of their contributions among investment options selected by plan trustees, the employer or the employer’s designated agent and therefore fully bear the investment risk. The dollar amount accumulated in a defined contribution plan will vary depending upon the amount contributed to the plan, the investment performance, the level of risk taken, and the fees paid.

Principal features of defined contribution plans generally include:

1. Portable vested benefits;
2. Employer obligations fulfilled annually as contributions are made, so there is no unfunded liability;
3. Investments directed by participants;
4. Account balances at retirement dependant upon a combination of investment rate of return, contribution levels and the period of investment;
5. Easier to understand account values as participants can see their balance on a regular basis;
6. Investment risk and fees born by participant;
7. Life expectancy risk born by the participant;

8. No cost of living allowances after retirement; however, participants continue to earn investment income on their remaining assets; and
9. Neither disability nor survivor coverage generally provided.

In addition to defined benefit and defined contribution plans, some entities provide retirement benefits through “hybrid plans” that incorporate features of both defined benefit and defined contribution plans.

For any of these plans, the actual costs to plan sponsors and participants are determined by the number and amount of benefits actually paid to recipients, and the source and amount of plan contributions and investment returns.

Recommendation. The Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) recommends that state and local governments have a policy statement that will guide their on-going plan design decisions. This policy should encourage governments to provide sustainable and properly funded retirement plans, which will attract employees in a competitive labor market, facilitate effective management of the workforce, and fulfill retirement needs.

In developing a policy for retirement plan design, a state or local government should consider the following:
- Purpose of the retirement plan (e.g., level of replacement income and purchasing power retention);
- Ability of public retirees to contribute to the economic viability of their community and not become a financial liability to the community in which they live due to inadequate retirement income;
- Organization’s philosophy regarding employer and employee responsibilities in preparing for retirement;
- Availability of Social Security, retiree medical benefits, disability and survivor benefits, and supplemental (e.g. 457) savings plans;
- Costs, including the employer’s ability to sustain payments and perhaps increase benefits over time and cost predictability;
- Labor market considerations such as competitive environment, workforce mobility, length of employee service, and recruitment and retention of employees;
- Investment risk and control, including how investment risk is allocated between employer and employee;
- Portability of benefits;
- A plan design that can be communicated to and understood by plan participants;
- Employee educational efforts; and
- Advantages of the different types of plans (e.g., defined benefit, defined contribution, and hybrid.)

BEST PRACTICE

Background. In its Best Practice (BP), Developing a Policy for Retirement Plan Design Options (2007), the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) recommends that public sector employers or plan sponsors have a policy statement that will guide their plan design decisions. Once a pension plan design decision has been made, GFOA members can refer to this BP on Essential Design Elements of Hybrid Retirement Plans to review the essential elements of offering a hybrid retirement plan or incorporating a hybrid feature.

Separate best practices have been adopted for the Essential Design Elements of Defined Benefit Retirement Plans and the Essential Design Elements of Defined Contribution Retirement Plans. These best practices should be consulted accordingly.

The emergence of hybrid plans in recent years, offering a combination of defined benefit and defined contribution plan features shows how the public retirement benefits environment is changing. Hybrid plans may be offered as a primary, optional or supplemental plan.

(A) Hybrid Account Balance Plans

There are a growing number of hybrid plans that express future retirement benefits as account balances. The key difference between defined contribution plans and hybrid plans is that defined contribution plans establish an actual funded account for each participant, which contains employer and employee contributions and investment gains and losses, while hybrid plans establish “accounting” or notational accounts for each participant. The participant’s balance in a hybrid plan continues to grow throughout employment, and the benefit is defined by the current value of the account.

The most common hybrid account balance plans are:

1. Cash Balance Plans - In cash balance plans, the employer sets aside a percentage of an employee’s salary each period and the balance set aside earns interest at a set rate. In other words, the employer promises to make a contribution to an account, usually with a specified percentage of pay (also referred to as a credit to the employee’s account), and to credit the account with interest, usually a specified rate of return or a rate based on the yield of a particular benchmark. The employer invests the funds, retaining all investment income and bearing all the risks. The plans generally provide participants the option of receiving their vested account balances as an annuity or as a lump-sum.

2. Pension Equity Plans – In a pension equity plan, the balance in the employees’ account equals a given percentage of the employees’ final average salary for each year of service. Some plans increase the percentage with additional years of service. Pension equity plans have various flexible features, which should be analyzed before a plan is selected. The plans generally provide participants the option of receiving their vested account balances as an annuity or as a lump-sum.
(B) Plans with Hybrid Features

1. Defined Benefit Plan (DB) with Defined Contribution (DC) features - Public sector plans have options under section 401(a) of the IRC to add a defined contribution feature to a defined benefit plan. There are several variations of DB plans with defined contribution features. Some of these are referred to as blended plans or combination plans. Although not considered a traditional hybrid plan or feature, another common approach is to simply offer a defined benefit plan and a separate voluntary defined contribution plan such as a 457, 403(b) or 401(k) plan.

2. Defined Contribution Plan (DC) with Defined Benefit (DB) features – Defined contribution plans may seek ways to allow members to manage the risk of outliving their money. This could include the purchase of an annuity contract, or allowing a transfer out of the DC plan into an appropriate DB plan where the employee can annuitize this transferring DC balance.

Recommendation. Should an employer choose to provide a hybrid retirement benefit plan, the GFOA recommends that retirement system administrators and finance professionals consider the following before adopting hybrid plans or combining hybrid features with defined benefit or defined contribution plans:

1. Whether the hybrid plan will serve as the primary income replacement vehicle or will a hybrid feature be added to supplement a defined benefit or defined contribution plan.

2. Whether the plan will replace a current defined benefit plan or defined contribution plan, become part of a blended plan, or be offered as an alternative to all employees or to new employees at the time of hire.

3. The purpose of the hybrid plan; is the hybrid plan intended to:

   (a) Reduce the employer’s cost by utilizing hybrid plan cost control features including how investment risk is allocated between the employer and employee.

   (b) Enhance the employer’s ability to recruit and retain employees, including older employees and/or younger more mobile employees, by offering retirement plans providing:

   1) predictable and/or guaranteed benefits, including adequate disability, survivor benefits and other ancillary benefits.

   2) portable benefits upon termination or retirement.

   3) benefits which are easily communicated to the participant.

4. Whether the hybrid plan or feature under consideration achieves the employer’s stated purpose for changing, supplementing or replacing the current plan.

5. Whether there are projected short and long-term costs and/or savings of changing the plan or feature and will the plan or feature be sustainable long-term. Evaluation of costs and/or savings should include not only direct pension costs but also an estimate of the impact on other benefits and on total compensation costs. Consideration should also be given to the possible increased cost of administering additional plans or more complex plan features. For example, does the internal plan staff have the knowledge and skills to administer a hybrid plan or will additional consulting services be required?

6. Plan conversions or implementing new plans should be undertaken with competent professional advice and assistance. Conversion of a defined benefit plan to a hybrid plan should be undertaken with careful consideration and with legal assistance. Consider whether the hybrid plan or plan feature complies with the Pension Protection Act of 2006 and its implementing regulations. Particular attention should be paid to issues regarding age discrimination.

7. Whether the relevant plan or features comply with GFOA Recommended Practices for Defined Benefit and/or Defined Contribution Retirement Plans, as appropriate.

RESOLUTION 2010-01 - Guiding Principles for Retirement Security and Plan Sustainability

WHEREAS, state and local government employee retirement systems have demonstrated the ability to thrive in highly volatile market environments; and

WHEREAS, the resilience of public plans during periodic market declines is sustained through long-term investment and financing strategies; statutory, contractual, moral, and in some cases constitutional benefit protections; as well as the ability to adjust plan designs, financing structures, and governing statutes to accommodate changing needs and fiscal realities; and

WHEREAS, needed periodic modifications, which have a history in state and local government retirement plans, require an open public legislative and regulatory process involving all stakeholders - governments, their plans, their employees (who typically share in the financing of their pension), and other taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, this open public process requires honest, unbiased and relevant information on public financing and long-term retirement policy objectives that should not be unduly influenced by projections that include unrelated healthcare liabilities or irrelevant corporate sector metrics, or that exclude relevant data regarding the inefficiencies and steep transition costs of closing, rather than adjusting existing plans; and

WHEREAS, differing plan designs, financial conditions, and fiscal frameworks across the country do not lend themselves to one-size-fits all solutions, but rather, require a range of tailored approaches, agreed to by the relevant stakeholders, in order to best secure the viability of each state and local retirement system for the very long-term; and

WHEREAS, core elements of public pension plan design – which include mandatory participation, benefit adequacy, shared financial responsibility, pooled assets invested by professionals over long time frames, and benefits that cannot be outlived – are the most reliable and economical means of providing retirement security, while also assisting in the retention of qualified workers needed to perform essential public services and providing economic stability to local communities; and

WHEREAS, these core components of public pension plan design are indispensable to sound retirement policy and not only should be retained in current and future benefit designs in the public sector, but also should be cultivated in the design of retirement plans for employees outside the public sector; and

WHEREAS, federal policy should be supportive of these central features of public pension design and the flexibility of state and local governments to meet local needs and concerns, and should also encourage the development of similar design characteristics in retirement plans beyond the public sector;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the National Association of State Retirement Administrators supports the following guiding principles to retirement security and public plan sustainability:

- Participation of all relevant stakeholders, including government employers, their plans, their employees, plan beneficiaries and retirees, and other taxpayers in discussions and processes pertaining to the design and financing arrangements of public retirement plans
- Policy-driven decision making based on objective and pertinent information that fairly reflects the long-term time horizon and economic effects of public plan financing, benefit adequacy and benefit distributions
- Tailored solutions, achieved by affected stakeholders working through the state and local legislative and regulatory processes
- Retention of core, indispensable elements of public plan design, namely mandatory participation, shared financing, benefit adequacy, pooled investment and longevity risks, and lifetime benefit payouts
- Removal of federal policy barriers to the preservation of these central retirement plan design features in the public sector and adoption of federal policies that encourage their inclusion in the private sector.

Several significant riders to Appropriations Bill regarding TRS-Care:

- All estimated General Revenue in excess of the state’s actual obligations for retirement and retiree insurance contributions are re-appropriated to TRS-Care for FY 2012.

- It is the intent of the Legislature that the TRS Board of Trustees shall not increase retiree health insurance premiums for the 2012-2013 biennium.

Federal Health Care Legislation

- Affordable Care Act (ACA) provides for sweeping changes in the medical environment.

- March 27: Commerce Clause and the individual mandate. Can the federal government force an individual to engage in interstate commerce by buying insurance?
- March 28: A Severability Clause was not in the final ACA draft passed by the Senate. If the individual mandate is ruled unconstitutional, can any, or some parts of the remaining law survive.

  - Retirees obtain Medicare Part D plan in private market
Medicare Part D

- RDS

  - Plan is reimbursed a flat risk adjusted amount per member per month
  - Reinsurance for members reaching catastrophic Rx levels
  - Members pay a % of the cost of drugs which varies as their out-of-pocket share accumulates
  - Wrap can stabilize the member cost share by providing supplemental coverage to the standard Part D plan.
TRSCare opted for the RDS.

Since 2006 TRS has continued to compare the RDS option to the EGWP option and has determined that there was no financial advantage to the EGWP option.

- Affordable Care Act
  - Federal health care legislation includes a provision to close the “donut hole”
  - Drug manufacturers provide a 50% discount on brand drugs in the “donut hole”
  - Elimination of the RDS tax-favored treatment

Memorandum

To:      Board of Trustees of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas

From:    Brian Guthrie, Executive Director

Date:    February 1, 2012

Re:      Selection of TRS-Care Pharmacy Benefit Manager

Introduction

As authorized under Chapter 1575, the Teacher Retirement System of Texas (TRS) and its consultant, Gabriel Roeder Smith & Company (GRS), solicited and evaluated proposals to select a pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) for TRS-Care, the statewide health benefits plan for retired Texas school employees. The pharmacy benefit manager will work closely with the health plan administrator and will provide retail and mail order prescription services to eligible TRS-Care participants and manage pharmacy utilization. The Request for Proposals (RFP) was posted and published October 18, 2011.

Eligibility for Consideration

The PBM must have demonstrated conclusively the capability to administer plans as large and complex as TRS-Care. Rules adopted by the Board of Trustees and minimum requirements recommended by GRS for organizations submitting proposals state that respondents must have:

- At least five years experience providing pharmacy benefit management services and must have at least five years experience in the administration of a retail pharmacy network.
- At least one million (1,000,000) covered lives across the respondent’s pharmacy benefit management book of business as of the Proposal submission date.
- At least one employer group of at least 200,000 covered lives with composition similar to TRS-Care (both Medicare and non-Medicare retirees).
- Three government clients with at least 50,000 covered lives.
- At least one billion dollars ($1,000,000,000) in annual pharmacy benefit premiums, services or product income.
- Proof of current URAC (Utilization Review Accreditation Commission) accreditation.

In addition, the organization must offer access to a statewide network of providers.
Responses
The following seven organizations responded by the December 7, 2011 deadline:

- Aetna
- CVSCaremark, L.L.C.
- Express Scripts, Inc.
- InformedRX
- Medco Health Solutions, Inc.
- Navitus
- Scott & White Health Plan

Scott & White Health Plan withdrew its proposal before it was evaluated.

The non-financial portions of each of the six remaining proposals were evaluated by a review team consisting of three voting TRS senior staff members, supported by five other TRS employees from Health & Insurance Benefits, Legal, Internal Audit, Purchasing and a team provided by GRS. The GRS team consisted of Bill Hickman, Amy Cohen, ASA, Mike Madalena, and Kevin DeStefino, RhP. Each voting team member independently scored the proposals.

The financial portions of each of the six remaining proposals were evaluated by the GRS team, which presented their analysis to TRS for inclusion in the overall evaluation of each proposal.

Based on aggregated results, three finalists were identified and invited to best and final offer meetings conducted on January 19, 2012. These finalists were CVSCaremark, LLC, Express Scripts, Inc., and Medco Health Solutions, Inc. Each respondent was asked additional questions during the best and final offer meeting and to provide additional clarifying information and data for consideration by TRS.

Evaluation Methodology
The evaluation team consisting of TRS staff members and GRS consultants reviewed the finalists’ proposals, responses during the best and final offer meetings, and subsequent information provided to TRS by the respondents. In its review the team considered, among other factors, the following:

- Statewide Network Access – Existing networks and willingness to solicit additional providers if requested by TRS.
- Quality of Service – Service to TRS-Care participants and TRS. It includes staff dedicated to TRS, training, performance guarantees and flexibility.
- Costs – Includes administrative costs, guaranteed rebates, and network discounts.
Evaluation Process

Questionnaire and Administrative Requirements – Respondents completed a detailed questionnaire that encompassed general information, corporate capability information, corporate financial information, network access, quality management, administrative ability, and the ability to manage TRS-Care and conduct participant enrollments. They were provided a list of administrative requirements to which they either agreed or provided alternatives for the consideration of the evaluation team.

Program Costs/Pricing

TRS requested each PBM to provide responses and pricing for two different benefit alternatives. The alternatives were as follows:

- Proposal #1 – The PBM would pass 100% of the rebate revenue to TRS and there would be minimum guaranteed rebates per script. Any administrative fees would be specifically identified in the proposal. The respondent would facilitate TRS’s claims under the Retiree Drug Subsidy (RDS) program. (This alternative resembles the current contractual arrangement for TRS-Care.)

- Proposal #2 – Essentially the same as Proposal #1 for TRS-Care 1 participants and for non-Medicare enrollees in TRS-Care 2 and TRS-Care 3. Medicare enrollees in TRS-Care 2 and TRS Care 3 would, beginning January 1, 2013, be enrolled in an Employer Group Waiver Program (EGWP) through the PBM’s contract with the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services (CMS). This EGWP would include a “Wrap” feature so that enrollees would continue to enjoy similar benefits to the current program.

Under each scenario the proposed pharmacy discounts and rebates were applied to TRS-Care’s actual average wholesale price (AWP) for FY 2011. The proposed dispensing fees were multiplied by the actual number of scripts, by type, for FY 2011. Member copayments were taken into account to approximate the FY 2011 annual cost under the proposed program prior to the guaranteed rebates being applied. The total program cost was trended forward based on expected annual trend and growth to FY 2013 and FY 2014. Estimated FY 2013 and FY 2014 guaranteed rebates were then calculated and taken into account to estimate the program cost under each alternative for each proposing PBM.

The administrative costs and projected plan savings under the EGWP arrangement for Medicare enrollees was included in the financial analysis by GRS.

Finalists Interviews – In finalist interviews with Caremark, Express Scripts, and Medco, the evaluation team explored several elements of the respondents’ proposals in greater detail.

Evaluation Team — The evaluation team consisting of TRS and GRS staff will consider all the information provided by the finalists in their proposals, interview responses, and subsequent materials and determine the ranking of each PBM finalist for presentation to TRS Executive Management.

Recommendation to the TRS Board of Trustees — TRS Executive Management will review the final recommendation of the evaluation team and present its recommendation to the Trustees during their February 16, 2012, meeting.

Each of the three current HMO contracts contains a provision that allows TRS to continue the contract for an additional one-year term, subject to approval by TRS. Given the proposed benefits, premium, enrollment levels, and recent performance, it is recommended to accept all of the renewals without exception.

Please let me know if you have questions or if additional information is needed.

Board Agenda Planning Goals

At the December meeting, staff discussed adjusting the Board agenda planning process in order to:

- Better target items for agenda inclusion
- Allow staff more time to develop and refine Board meeting materials
- Give trustees more time with the materials in advance of meetings
To accomplish the stated goals, staff recommends:

- Developing and reviewing Board agendas earlier
- Disseminating Board materials 2 weeks prior Board meetings, with some exceptions
- Adjusting the frequency of meetings or alternating the agenda focus
- Evaluating the number of Board committees
Staff will develop Board agendas two to three months in advance of the meeting

At each Board meeting, staff will preview for Board input the outline for the next two Board agendas, including committee meetings

Discussion of preview agendas must be limited only to adding or removing agenda items. The substantive merits of a particular item cannot be discussed
Disseminate Materials Earlier

- Set an internal review deadline of 21 days in advance of the Board meeting

- Aim to disseminate meeting materials two weeks in advance of the Board meeting

- Except out “time-sensitive” materials

- Be aware that early dissemination of materials means that new issues or updated information could arise after the Board materials have been sent out but before the posting deadline
“Time-sensitive” items will not be available for dissemination two weeks in advance

Will be disseminated five to seven days in advance

Examples of “time-sensitive” items includes:
  o IMD’s quarterly reporting of investment performance
  o Financial Division’s reporting of quarterly financial information
  o Minutes from the prior meeting

IMD quarterly reporting is regularly “time-sensitive”

All other “time-sensitive” items will vary depending on the exact meeting date

Note: deadlines are based on calendar days
Adjust Meeting Frequency

- TRS Board Bylaws Section 2.1.1 provides that the Board shall meet approximately eight but no less than four times per fiscal year.

- The Board will meet 8 times in FY 2012, including once a month for April, May, June and July.

- Frequent meetings lead to tight turn around times for Board materials, which:
  - Hinders adherence to new, more aggressive, dissemination deadlines
  - Results in more materials being deemed “time-sensitive”
  - Diverts staff attention away from agency operational functions
In 2008, Internal Audit examined the Board preparation process

Audit found that preparation for seven to eight annual Board meetings and associated committee meetings is a continual process that:

- Spans up to eight weeks per meeting
- Involves the equivalent of 202 staff members contributing 1,680 hours (Excluding ED and Executive Assistant resources)
- Often entails management and staff members working on materials for two different Board meetings concurrently
Adjusting Meeting Frequency (Cont’d)

Staff recommends:

- Reducing the number of meetings to provide one full month between meetings or alternating the agenda focus between Investments and non-Investment topics.

- For example, with four meetings in four months the Board could cancel the May Board meeting or narrowly focus the May agenda on health care matters.

- This will help ease staff resources for meeting preparation.
Evaluate Committees

Currently, the Board has established the following eight committees:

- Audit
- Benefits
- Budget
- Compensation*
- Investment Management
- Policy
- Ethics
- Risk Management

TRS Board Bylaws Section 3.1.1 through 3.1.7
*Established by Board resolution; not in Bylaws
Evaluate Committees (Cont’d)

- TRS Board Bylaws provide that the Board shall establish committees to make recommendations to the Board and help carry out the Board’s responsibilities.

- Under the Bylaws, the committees may not exercise authority required to be exercised by the Board as a whole under the Bylaws or state or federal law.

- The Bylaws also provide that the Board may consider or take any action otherwise specified to be taken or considered by a committee.

TRS Board Bylaws Section 1.8(l)
The Bylaws provide that:

- Committees have 5 members except Ethics, which is comprised of the entire Board.

- Audit and Risk Management committees shall meet on a quarterly basis or at the call of the committee chair.

- Benefits, Budget, Investment Management, Policy, and Ethics committees shall meet at the call of the committee chair.

TRS Bylaws Sections 3.1.1 through 3.1.7 and 3.3
A December 2011 survey by the Association of Public Pension Fund Auditors shows that out of the 28 responsive funds TRS has:

- More Board committees than 23 funds, including Arizona State Retirement System and Ohio Public Employees Retirement System.
- The same number of Board committees as 4 funds, including Colorado Public Employees Retirement Association
- Less Board committees than 1 fund, which is the New York State Teachers’ Retirement System

Resolution Regarding Correction of Errors and Other Edits
February, 2012

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees (the “Board”) of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas (“TRS”) desires to express its intent and authorization for staff to modify resolutions, motions, policies, rules, or a written document adopted at any time by the Board for any purpose and on any topic, provided that the sole purpose of the staff’s modification is to make technical non-substantive corrections or to clarify the action of the Board in order to reflect accurately the intent of the Board or to comply with publication requirements; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That, with regard to a resolution, motion, policy, rule, or a written document adopted previously or hereafter by the Board for any purpose and on any topic, the staff is authorized (i) to make technical non-substantive corrections thereto, such as to correct syntax, grammar, numbering, punctuation, formatting, mathematical, and typographical errors; and (ii) to substitute the intended option or language or to add or to delete a word or phrase when such substitution, addition, or deletion is necessary to correct an inadvertent mistake, including without limitation identifying the wrong version of a document or the wrong section number of a rule, statute, or document, and thereby clarify the action of the Board to reflect accurately the Board’s intent either as such intent is clearly and unequivocally expressed in the records evidencing the Board’s deliberation of the matter or is necessarily implied from all the relevant circumstances; and (iii) to work with the Office of the Secretary of State in preparing and filing rules and related documents that must be filed and to make any technical changes required by law or by the Secretary of State for publication of Board-adopted rules; and

RESOLVED FURTHER, That the Executive Director or the Deputy Director is authorized and directed to exercise his judgment and discretion in evaluating whether any correction, substitution, addition, or deletion is warranted under the circumstances and should be implemented by staff or, instead, brought to the attention of the Board for further review and consideration, it being the expectation of the Board that the authority granted by these resolutions will be used to correct manifest errors or comply with publication requirements and to avoid cluttering the Board’s agenda with such evident clarifications and ministerial edits; and such revised version of the resolution, motion, policy, rule, or written document as modified by staff under the authority of these resolutions shall constitute the version adopted by the Board.
